

Opioid Assessment Clinic

The Opioid Assessment Clinic (OAC) at the Health Sciences Centre (HSC) offers consultation services for individuals with opioid use, abuse, or dependence. The role of the OAC is to provide assessment and treatment recommendations based on individual circumstances. The OAC liaises with the HSC Addictions Unit and community-based treatment programs to assist individuals to coordinate treatment plans.

Referral Process

Physician referrals are requested, preferably from primary physicians/prescribing physicians.

Referrals should outline the individual's medical history and current status, addiction history, current substance use, and prescribed medications. Referrals should include results from tests/consultations related to chronic illness, chronic pain, or relevant medical/psychiatric issues. Please enclose recent lab results including a comprehensive urine drug screen, CBC, glucose, urea, creatinine, AST, ALT, GGT, TSH, and any other relevant investigations. Referrals must include the individual's contact information.

Referrals can be faxed to the Opioid Assessment Clinic at (204)787-3996.

Waitlist

The waitlist is highly variable. Typically, the wait time for assessment is approximately 3 months.

Priority is given to individuals who are pregnant and individuals who have already initiated treatment planning with a community addictions agency. For more information, please contact the Opioid Clinic Liaison, Talia Weisz (Occupational Therapist) via phone at (204)787-7625.

Treatment & Interim Options

Based on a comprehensive addictions assessment and a diagnosis of opioid dependence, the OAC recommends either methadone-maintenance treatment or abstinence-based treatment options. Recommendations may also include suggestions for treatment of co-occurring psychiatric disorders, and investigations or treatment of chronic pain issues.

Please note treatment options in the community have their own respective waitlists. While the individual is waiting for an appointment with the OAC, we strongly recommend they explore other resources:

- If the individual is abusing opioids obtained "off the street", they should self-refer to one of the methadone clinics in the city. Contact information for Manitoba clinics is included. Even if they are unable to get an intake appointment, they should place their names on the clinic waiting lists.
- They can also refer themselves to community addiction treatment agencies to initiate treatment planning (contact information also included).
- For individuals with chronic pain and overuse/misuse of prescribed opioid medication, a Pain Clinic referral should be considered. We also recommend that if any investigations are required to rule out organic cause for chronic pain that these be initiated. If the individual is frequently seeking early refills, we suggest limiting the amount prescribed at any one time.
- Please order a comprehensive urine drug screen; results can be sent with the referral or forwarded upon receipt. A comprehensive drug screen has advantages over a street drug screen as it specifically identifies which drugs/medications a patient is or is not taking (occasionally a patient is prescribed medication but may not be taking it).
- Individuals can attend mutual-help groups such as Narcotics or Alcoholics Anonymous for immediate support.
